S. to redeem his pledge immediately, and Gen. K. offering to give the commission in four or six weeks --introduced by F. as his own testimony, seems to support K. s testimony and the theory that time was made tho test. Tho matter, however, is one that affects the personal veracity of the two officers more than it dries the general controversy. It appears, also, that at this interview F. expressed sorrow for tho dissensions between S. and K., and perhaps tried to bring about an interview, which K. desired but would not ask for. This reply of Fremont refusing obedience was made tho foundation of the principal accusation against him before a military court. In defence, he made the point that K., at tho interview, by offering to permit the paper to bo destroyed, to forget its contents, and to consider the matter of making F. governor, condoned the act of disobedience, or mutiny. This is true to the extent that K. was technically at fault; bat the dishonor in such cases always pertains not to the officer who shows such leniency, but to the recipient who uses it against him. purpose of preventing collision between us, and possibly a civil war in consequence of it, remain silent for the present, leaving with you the great responsibility of doing that for which you have no authority, and preventing me from complying with the president s...
