No liability on the part of the indorser for the amount of such a note as raised can be predicated simply upon the fact that such spaces existed thereon. That was a case in which it was sought to hold the indorser liable, but Judge Willard Bartlett, delivering the opinion, refers with approval to a number of the leading cases in which it was sought to hold the maker liable and in which the proposition was rejected, and in closing the opinion makes comment on the general question of liability as follows: On what theory is the indorser negligent because he places his name on...
