Createspace. Paperback. Book Condition: New. This item is printed on demand. Paperback. 255 pages. Morgans childhood was marred with witnessing drug, alcohol, and domestic abuse in her family. She vowed to never be a victim and never trusted getting close to men; though never admitting it. Her perception of a family dynamic wasnt a house on the hills with a white picket fence and it was not in her plans to ever become a mother because of an underlying fear that she would be like the one she had. It is very obvious how much she value and love her little sister, Logan, and vowed to protect her even if it meant losing herself in the process. Morgan would go to the end of the world to keep her sister safe. When the day came to save Logan, it was Logan who saved Morgan by killing her own husband. However, by being her sisters keeper, she started to learn a lot more about the woman she is and even found love along the way. This short story about Morgan Hixon-Chambers journalizes pivotal points of her life into adulthood. She discussed what had the most impact for her; good and bad. Though with her, happiness always came at a cost. Her first love was shot, she choked a girl on her high school graduation day, and two boys in college felt her wrath. Not to mention the disturbing images of herself in the mirror with blackened pupils and a distorted voice speaking to her at her low points. Giving up her dream career (when she lost her mind in a rage of revenge) wasnt planned, but she knew if she didnt, more pain would come and internal pain is what she didnt know how to deal with.
